I was so grateful to the kind person who, when I inadvertently lost a bank card from my pocket, picked it up in the street and handed it in to my bank.

Even before I knew I'd lost it, the bank called to tell me they had it.

It was very kind of this unknown person to take the trouble and save me a lot of worry.